RE: 2018 Resident Satisfaction Survey

Tonight, Jason Marado, Senior Project Manager from ETC Institute, will give a presentation on the results of the 2018 Resident Satisfaction Survey. ETC has been conducting Shoreline's biennial surveys since 2004 and is a national leader in conducting surveys for local governments.

Generally, results show that residents are satisfied with City services. And while there were a few areas that showed decreases in satisfaction levels from the 2016 survey, the overall levels of satisfaction when compared to dissatisfaction is high. In fact, Shoreline rated at or above the national average in 33 of 44 areas assessed, with the overall quality of services provided by the City ranked 22% higher than both the regional and national average.

The three areas that residents wanted the most emphasis over the next two years were 1) quality of police services; 2) travel time for trips on Shoreline streets; and 3) response to prescription drug abuses and addiction issues, such as opioid addictions.

The presentation during the regular Council meeting later tonight will be brief and more high-level. The dinner meeting presentation will go into more detail around the Importance-Satisfaction Assessment Matrices and some possible differences between 2016 and 2018 results.
