ISSUE STATEMENT:

Harvard educated historian Carter G. Woodson created and proclaimed the first week of February Negro History Week in 1926 in order to raise awareness of the many contributions African Americans have made to the United States and civilization overall. February was selected because Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass were born in February. The celebration was expanded to a month-long event in 1976 and since then, every U.S. president has officially designated the month of February as Black History Month.

African Americans have influenced and made countless contributions and sacrifices to local, national, and global development in economics, arts and culture, science, medicine, industry, and other areas throughout history to present day. Black History Month highlights that to fully understand U.S. history, we must learn and recognize the role of African Americans which has often been ignored or denied.

The Association for the Study of African American Life and History \(ASALH\) whose mission is to promote, preserve, and share information about Black culture and history sets the theme for Black History Month each year. The 2022 Black History Month theme is Black Health and Wellness. This theme acknowledges the legacy of not only Black scholars and medical practitioners in Western medicine, but other ways of healing and care have been practiced through the African Diaspora, such as doulas, midwives, naturopaths, and herbalists.

This proclamation recognizes the month of February as Black History Month as a time to celebrate Black history and encourages all residents to learn and reflect on history and achievements of African Americans and current impacts on our lives not only in February, but throughout the entire year.
